Like whole individuals, cells have a life span. During their life cycle (cell cycle), cell size, shape, and metabolic activities can change dramatically. A cell is "born" as a twin when its mother cell divides, ① producing two daughter cells. Each daughter cell is smaller than the mother cell, and except for unusual cases, each grows until it becomes as large as the mother cell ② was. During this time, the cell absorbs water, sugars, amino acids, and other nutrients and assembles them into new, living protoplasm. After the cell has grown to the proper size, its metabolism shifts as it either prepares to divide or matures and ③ differentiates into a specialized cell. Both growth and development require a complex and dynamic set of interactions involving all cell parts. ④ What cell metabolism and structure should be complex would not be surprising, but actually, they are rather simple and logical. Even the most complex cell has only a small number of parts, each ⑤ responsible for a distinct, well-defined aspect of cell life.

Even though institutions like the World Bank use wealth ① to differentiate between "developed" and "developing" countries, they also agree that development is more than economic growth. "Development" can also include the social and environmental changes that are caused by or accompany economic growth, some of ② which are positive and thus may be negative. Awareness has grown — and continues to grow — that the question of how economic growth is affecting people and the planet ③ needs to be addressed. Countries are slowly learning that it is cheaper and causes ④ much less suffering to try to reduce the harmful effects of an economic activity or project at the beginning, when it is planned, than after the damage appears. To do this is not easy and is always imperfect. But an awareness of the need for such an effort indicates a greater understanding and moral concern than ⑤ was the previous widespread attitude that focused only on creating new products and services.

When it comes to medical treatment, patients see choice as both a blessing and a burden. And the burden falls primarily on women, who are ① typically the guardians not only of their own health, but that of their husbands and children. "It is an overwhelming task for women, and consumers in general, ② to be able to sort through the information they find and make decisions," says Amy Allina, program director of the National Women's Health Network. And what makes it overwhelming is not only that the decision is ours, but that the number of sources of information ③ which we are to make the decisions has exploded. It's not just a matter of listening to your doctor lay out the options and ④ making a choice. We now have encyclopedic lay-people's guides to health, "better health" magazines, and the Internet. So now the prospect of medical decisions ⑤ has become everyone's worst nightmare of a term paper assignment, with stakes infinitely higher than a grade in a course.

1. [정답] ④

④번은 문장의 주어절을 이끄는 접속사가 필요한 자리이다. '세포의 신진대사와 구조가 복잡해야 한다는 것'이라는 의미의 명사절이 주어가 되어야 하므로, 접속사 That이 와야 한다. 관계대명사 What은 뒤에 불완전한 절을 이끌지만, 'cell metabolism and structure should be complex'는 완전한 문장이므로 What을 쓸 수 없다. ① producing은 분사구문으로, 앞선 내용의 결과를 나타낸다. ② was는 'the mother cell was large'에서 large가 생략된 형태로, 대동사 역할을 한다. ③ differentiates는 주어 it(the cell)에 대한 동사로 matures와 병렬 구조이다. ⑤ responsible은 each (part)를 수식하는 형용사 구이다. (each being responsible 에서 being 생략)

2. [정답] ⑤

⑤번은 'than' 뒤에서 비교 대상을 나타내는 대동사 자리입니다. 비교되는 대상은 앞 문장의 동사인 'indicates'입니다. 따라서 'was'가 아니라 일반동사를 대신하는 대동사 'did'를 써야 합니다. (...than did the previous widespread attitude...)

3. [정답] ③

③번은 문맥상 '그 정보의 출처들을 가지고 우리가 결정을 내린다'는 의미가 되어야 한다. 뒷 문장 'we are to make the decisions'는 완전한 문장이 아니며, '~를 가지고'라는 의미의 전치사가 필요하다. 따라서 'the sources of information'을 선행사로 하여 'from which we are to make the decisions' 또는 'with which~'와 같이 '전치사+관계대명사' 형태가 되어야 자연스럽다. which만으로는 문법적으로나 의미적으로 어색하다. ① typically는 the guardians를 수식하는 부사이다. ② to be able는 가주어 It에 대한 진주어이다. ④ making은 listening과 병렬 구조를 이루는 동명사이다. ⑤ has become은 단수 주어 the prospect에 대한 단수 동사이다.
