The process of job advancement in the field of sports ① is often said to be shaped like a pyramid. That is, at the wide base are many jobs with high school athletic teams, while at the narrow tip are the few, highly desired jobs with professional organizations. Thus there are many sports jobs altogether, but the competition becomes ② increasingly tough as one works their way up. The salaries of various positions reflect this pyramid model. For example, high school football coaches are typically teachers who ③ paid a little extra for their after-class work. But coaches of the same sport at big universities can earn more than $1 million a year, causing the salaries of college presidents ④ to look small in comparison. One degree higher up is the National Football League, ⑤ where head coaches can earn many times more than their best-paid campus counterparts.

According to Pierre Pica, understanding quantities approximately in terms of estimating ratios is a universal human intuition. In fact, humans who do not have numbers have no choice but ① to see the world in this way. By contrast, understanding quantities in terms of exact numbers is not a universal intuition; it is a product of culture. The precedence of approximations and ratios over exact numbers, Pica suggests, ② is due to the fact that ratios are much more important for survival in the wild than the ability to count. ③ Faced with a group of spear-wielding adversaries, we needed to know instantly whether there were more of them than us. When we saw two trees we needed to know instantly ④ that had more fruit hanging from it. In neither case was it ⑤ necessary to enumerate every enemy or every fruit individually. The crucial thing was to be able to make quick estimates of the relative amounts.

The term déjà vu is French and means, literally, "already seen." Those who have experienced the feeling ① describe it as an overwhelming sense of familiarity with something that shouldn't be familiar at all. Say, for example, you are touring a cathedral in England for the first time, and suddenly it seems as if you have been in that ② very spot before. Or maybe you are having dinner with a group of friends, ③ discussed some current political topic, and you have the feeling that you've already experienced this same friends, same dinner, and same topic. The phenomenon is rather complex, and there are many different theories as to why déjà vu ④ happens. Some psychiatrists ascribe déjà vu to a mismatching in the brain ⑤ that causes the brain to mistake the present for the past. Many para-psychologists believe it is related to a past-life experience.

③번은 관계대명사 'who'가 이끄는 절의 동사 자리입니다. 선행사인 'teachers'는 추가 수당을 '받는' 대상이므로 수동태가 되어야 합니다. 따라서 'are paid'가 올바른 형태입니다.

2. [정답] ④

④번은 know의 목적어 역할을 하는 명사절을 이끌어야 한다. '어느 나무에 과일이 더 많이 매달려 있는지'를 알아야 한다는 의미이므로, 선택의 의미를 나타내는 의문대명사 which가 와야 한다. 'which had more fruit' 전체가 명사절이 된다. 접속사 that은 완전한 절을 이끌어야 하는데, 뒤에 주어가 없는 불완전한 절이 오므로 틀렸다. ① to see는 'have no choice but to V' (~할 수밖에 없다) 구문의 일부이다. ② is는 단수 주어 The precedence에 대한 단수 동사이다. ③ Faced는 분사구문으로, 주절의 주어 we가 '직면했을 때'라는 의미이다. (When we were faced) ⑤ necessary는 가주어 it 구문에서 be동사의 보어로 쓰인 형용사이다.

3. [정답] ③

③번은 'you are having dinner with a group of friends'와 병렬 구조로 연결되는 것이 아니라, 'having dinner'의 상황을 부가적으로 설명하는 분사구문 자리입니다. 친구들과 함께 정치적 주제를 '토론하면서' 저녁을 먹고 있는 것이므로 능동의 의미를 나타내는 현재분사 'discussing'이 와야 합니다.
