Basing your self-worth on climbing performance puts you at the whim of external factors. These factors may be random and misleading. Comparison is one source of illusion. Perhaps you felt that you performed well on a certain climb because your partner was having an off day and found the climbing very difficult. You found it only slightly difficult and conclude that you were climbing quite well, when in fact you were climbing no better than usual. Or, your partner was at the top of his game. You felt weak in comparison, when in fact, objectively, you put in a very strong performance. Environmental factors may be involved. Perhaps you mastered your day's objective due to especially favorable conditions, such as low humidity, when in fact, you really didn't climb particularly well. In all these cases, the good or bad feelings you have are not based on something you can take credit for. If the performances boost your self-worth, the boost is grounded in fiction.

- ① perceptions of self-growth vary from person to person
- ② your self-confidence is an outcome of constant effort
- ③ the pride you take in your achievement is unreliable
- ④ performance comparison to partners is demotivating
- ⑤ ambitious goals help you improve performance

Once an event is noticed, an onlooker must decide if it is truly an emergency. Emergencies are not always clearly (a) labeled as such; "smoke" pouring into a waiting room may be caused by fire, or it may merely indicate a leak in a steam pipe. Screams in the street may signal an attack or a family quarrel. A man lying in a doorway may be having a coronary — or he may simply be sleeping off a drunk. A person trying to interpret a situation often looks at those around him to see how he should react. If everyone else is calm and indifferent, he will tend to remain so; if everyone else is reacting strongly, he is likely to become alert. This tendency is not merely blind conformity; ordinarily we derive much valuable information about new situations from how others around us behave. It's a (b) rare traveler who, in picking a roadside restaurant, chooses to stop at one where no other cars appear in the parking lot. But occasionally the reactions of others provide (c) accurate information. The studied nonchalance of patients in a dentist's waiting room is a poor indication of their inner anxiety. It is considered embarrassing to "lose your cool" in public. In a potentially acute situation, then, everyone present will appear more (d) unconcerned than he is in fact. A crowd can thus force (e) inaction on its members by implying, through its passivity, that an event is not an emergency. Any individual in such a crowd fears that he may appear a fool if he behaves as though it were.

- ② Winning Strategy: How Not to Be Fooled by Others
- ③ Do Emergencies Affect the Way of Our Thinking?
- ④ Stepping Towards Harmony with Your Neighbors
- ⑤ Ways of Helping Others in Emergent Situations

The Greeks, who had rejected Cyrus when he approached them with an offer to become his allies against Croesus, now (A) demanded / demanding the same favored status and political independence they had enjoyed under the Lydians. When Cyrus refused, the Greeks who lived along the coast of Asia Minor appealed to Sparta for protection. Sparta, the most powerful military power on the Greek mainland, sent a delegation to Sardis to warn Cyrus to keep away from the Greeks of Asia Minor. He quizzically inquired, "Who are these Spartans?" and then sent his armies to defeat the coastal cities, most of (B) them / which surrendered or quickly reached an accommodation with him. Over time, Cyrus found that the Greeks, especially the Spartans and Athenians, were excellent, disciplined fighters but, like members of a dysfunctional family, could not set aside their differences long enough to cooperate; nor (C) could their leaders / their leaders could resist bribes to betray each other.

*quizzically: 짓궂게, 기묘하게 dysfunctional family: 문제역기능 가정

4. 다음 글의 밑줄 친 부분 중, 문맥상 낱말의 쓰임이 적절하지 않은 것은?

We all like to think of ourselves as rational actors, careful and considered in our thinking, capable of sound and reliable judgments. We might believe that we generally consider different points of view and make ①informed decisions. We are, in fact, "predictably irrational," as psychologist Dan Ariely titled his book on the topic. All of us engage in automatic, reflexive thinking, typically taking the ②easier path and conserving mental effort. Although we each may have the subjective impression that we are careful thinkers, we often make snap judgments or no real judgments at all. In addition, numerous biases inhibit or override reflective, deliberative thought; intuitive theories can also interfere with ③acceptance of accurate scientific explanations. Understanding more about how our minds work and how biases may operate can make us each ④less subject to fallacious reasoning, more rational, and more aware of the problems in others' thinking. Learning to understand the built-in ⑤rationality of our mental processes can also help us improve our ability to inform others more effectively.

News, especially in its televised form, is constituted not only by its choice of topics and stories but by its _____. Presentational styles have been subject to a tension between an informational-educational purpose and the need to engage us entertainingly. While current affairs programmes are often 'serious' in tone sticking to the 'rules' of balance, more popular programmes adopt a friendly, lighter, idiom in which we are invited to consider the impact of particular news items from the perspective of the 'average person in the street'. Indeed, contemporary news construction has come to rely on an increased use of faster editing tempos and 'flashier' presentational styles including the use of logos, sound-bites, rapid visual cuts and the 'star quality' of news readers. Popular formats can be said to enhance understanding by engaging an audience unwilling to endure the longer verbal orientation of older news formats. However, they arguably work to reduce understanding by failing to provide the structural contexts for news events.

- ① coordination with traditional display techniques
- ② prompt and full coverage of the latest issues
- ③ educational media contents favoured by producers
- ④ commitment to long-lasting news standards
- ⑤ verbal and visual idioms or modes of address

6. 다음 빈칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오. (3점)

Writers often give us the impression that they have described the faces of their characters, when in fact they have simply given you an outline to fill in. Of Esch, the most important character in Hermann Broch's masterpiece The Sleepwalkers, we learn only that he has big teeth. Even so, we don't feel as if his face is a dentate blankness. Most often, we mistake being told what effect someone's appearance has for an account of that appearance. The poet Mallarmé's advice—Peindre non la chose, mais l'effet qu'elle produit ('Paint not the thing itself but the effect it produces') sounds like a self-denying ordinance. Actually it is a rather clever way out of an intractable problem. When, in one of his novels, Evelyn Waugh says of a new character, that 'he had just the kind of appearance one would expect a young man of his type to have' and nothing else, you still feel as if you _____.

- ① have been told exactly what he looks like
- ② have become a member of his social group
- ③ already know what will happen to him in the story
- ④ have been given precise details about his behavior
- ⑤ recognize the core characteristics of his personality

자신의 등반 실력에 대한 평가는 파트너의 컨디션이나 낮은 습도와 같은 외부 요인에 의해 왜곡될 수 있으며, 이는 착각(illusion)이라고 설명한다. 따라서 자신의 성과가 자기 가치를 높여준다고 느낄 때, '그 고양감은 허구에 기반을 두고 있다(the boost is grounded in fiction)'는 것은, 성취에 대해 느끼는 자부심이 실제 자신의 실력이 아닌 외부 요인에 의한 것일 수 있어 '신뢰할 수 없다(unreliable)'는 의미이다.

이 글은 애매한 상황에서 사람들이 주변 사람들의 반응을 보고 어떻게 행동할지 결정하는 경향이 있음을 설명한다. 특히 다른 사람들이 침착하면 자신도 그렇게 행동하게 되어, 실제 위기 상황임에도 불구하고 군중 전체가 아무 행동도 하지 않는 결과를 낳을 수 있다고 말한다. 이는 우리의 판단이 독립적이지 않고 군중의 영향을 받는다는 것을 보여주므로, '우리는 독립적으로 판단하는가? 군중의 효과'라는 제목의 ①번이 가장 적절하다.

(A) 문장의 주어는 The Greeks이며, 콤마(,) 사이의 관계사절을 제외하면 문장의 정동사가 필요하므로 demanded가 맞다. (B) 두 개의 절(sent his armies~, surrendered~)을 연결하기 위해서는 접속사 기능이 필요하다. and most of them 또는 접속사 기능을 포함하는 관계대명사 most of which가 와야 한다. 콤마만으로는 두 절을 연결할 수 없다. (C) 부정어 nor가 문두에 위치했으므로 주어와 동사가 도치되어 '조동사(could) + 주어(their leaders)' 순서가 되어야 한다.

The passage consistently describes human thinking as flawed, biased, and 'predictably irrational.' The final sentence claims that understanding the built-in 'rationality' of our minds is helpful. This contradicts the entire context of the paragraph. To be consistent with the theme of overcoming cognitive biases, one must understand the built-in 'irrationality' of mental processes.

글은 작가들이 인물의 외모를 직접 묘사하는 대신, 그 외모가 주는 '효과'를 전달하여 독자가 나머지를 채우게 한다고 주장한다. Evelyn Waugh의 소설에서처럼 구체적인 묘사가 전혀 없음에도 불구하고, 독자는 역설적으로 마치 '그가 어떻게 생겼는지 정확히 들은 것 같은' 느낌을 받는다는 것이다. 이는 작가가 제공한 최소한의 정보(효과)를 바탕으로 독자가 스스로 이미지를 완성하기 때문에 발생하는 현상이다.
