(A) When invited by her mother to go shopping after lunch, Ellen hesitantly replied, "Sorry, Mom. I have an English essay assignment I need to finish." Her mother persisted, "Come on! Your father's birthday is just around the corner, and you wanted to buy his birthday present by yourself." Ellen suddenly realized that her father's birthday was just two days away. So (a) she altered her original plan to do the assignment in the library and decided to go to the shopping mall with her mother. (B) Ellen wanted to get a strawberry smoothie in the cafe, but it was sold out. So she bought a yogurt smoothie instead. The cafe was not very busy for a Saturday afternoon, and Ellen settled at a large table to work on her assignment. However, after a while, a group of students came in, and there weren't any large tables left. One of them came over to Ellen's table and politely asked, "Could (b) you possibly move to that smaller table?" Ellen replied, "It's okay. I was just leaving anyway." She hurriedly gathered her assignment leaving the shoe bag behind under the table. (C) Upon arrival at the shopping center, her mother inquired, "Ellen, have you decided what to buy for his birthday present?" She quickly replied, "(c) I would like to buy him a pair of soccer shoes." Ellen knew that her father had joined the morning soccer club recently and needed some new soccer shoes. She entered a shoe store and selected a pair of red soccer shoes. After buying the present, she told her mother, "Mom, now, I'm going to do my assignment in the cafe while you are shopping." (D) "It must be in the cafe," Ellen suddenly exclaimed when (d) she realized the gift for her father was missing upon returning home. She felt so disheartened, worrying it would be impossible to find it. "Why don't you call the cafe?" suggested her mother. When she phoned the cafe and asked about the shoe bag, the manager said that she would check and let her know. After a few minutes, she called back and told Ellen that (e) she had just discovered it. Ellen was so pleased that the birthday gift had been found.

Hyper-mobility — the notion that more travel at faster speeds covering longer distances generates greater economic success — seems to be a distinguishing feature of urban areas, where more than half of the world's population currently reside. By 2005, approximately 7.5 billion trips were made each day in cities worldwide. In 2050, there may be three to four times as many passenger-kilometres travelled as in the year 2000, infrastructure and energy prices permitting. Freight movement could also rise more than threefold during the same period. Mobility flows have become a key dynamic of urbanization, with the associated infrastructure invariably constituting the backbone of urban form. Yet, despite the increasing level of urban mobility worldwide, access to places, activities and services has become increasingly difficult. Not only is it less convenient — in terms of time, cost and comfort — to access locations in cities, but the very process of moving around in cities generates a number of negative externalities. Accordingly, many of the world's cities face an unprecedented accessibility crisis, and are characterized by unsustainable mobility systems.

There are questions we can ask about the origin of the universe, not all of ① them can be answered by science. Scientists can answer when and how the universe began, but cannot calculate the reason why it began, for example. That type of question must be explored through philosophy, religion, and other ways of thinking. The questions that scientists ② ask must be testable. Scientists have provided answers to testable questions that have helped us ③ calculate the age of the universe: like how distant are certain stars and how fast are they receding from us. Whether or not we can get a definitive answer, we can be confident in the process by which the explanations were developed, allowing us ④ to rely on the knowledge that is produced through the process of science. Someday we may find evidence to help us understand why the universe was created, but for the time being science will limit ⑤ itself to the last 13.7 or so billion years of phenomenon to investigate.

It has been suggested that "organic" methods, defined as those in which only natural products can be used as inputs, would be less damaging to the biosphere. Large-scale adoption of "organic" farming methods, however, would ① reduce yields and increase production costs for many major crops. Inorganic nitrogen supplies are ② essential for maintaining moderate to high levels of productivity for many of the non-leguminous crop species, because organic supplies of nitrogenous materials often are either limited or more expensive than inorganic nitrogen fertilizers. In addition, there are ③ benefits to the extensive use of either manure or legumes as "green manure" crops. In many cases, weed control can be very difficult or require much hand labor if chemicals cannot be used, and ④ fewer people are willing to do this work as societies become wealthier. Some methods used in "organic" farming, however, such as the sensible use of crop rotations and specific combinations of cropping and livestock enterprises, can make important ⑤ contributions to the sustainability of rural ecosystems.

One word is inextricably associated with geography: where. That is because geography starts from the premise that it matters where something takes place on Earth's surface. The key questions are not simply "where" questions, though; they are "why there" and "so what" questions. Getting to such questions means taking spatial arrangements, variations, and interconnections seriously. Engaging in even the simplest day-to-day activity requires some appreciation of spatial circumstances — where to find food and services, how to get to work places, and the like. Moving up in scale, without some awareness of _____, it is difficult to make reasoned business or policy judgments, make sense of events, or grasp some of the basic forces shaping life on the planet. Locating a new store or public service requires taking into consideration population distributions, the location of roads and utilities, socio-economic patterns, and more. Understanding why and where migration happens requires consideration of the political organization of territory, the spatial consequences of discrimination, socio-economic patterns, and the layout of the physical environment.

- ① why cross-cultural conflicts will increase
- ② how phenomena are arranged on Earth's surface
- ③ when the Earth's natural resources will be exhausted
- ④ which places on Earth are damaged by climate change
- ⑤ who has the authority to make decisions about territories

Enabling animals to is an almost universal function of learning. Most animals innately avoid objects they have not previously encountered. Unfamiliar objects may be dangerous; treating them with caution has survival value. If persisted in, however, such careful behavior could interfere with feeding and other necessary activities to the extent that the benefit of caution would be lost. A turtle that withdraws into its shell at every puff of wind or whenever a cloud casts a shadow would never win races, not even with a lazy rabbit. To overcome this problem, almost all animals habituate to safe stimuli that occur frequently. Confronted by a strange object, an inexperienced animal may freeze or attempt to hide, but if nothing unpleasant happens, sooner or later it will continue its activity. The possibility also exists that an unfamiliar object may be useful, so if it poses no immediate threat, a closer inspection may be worthwhile. 3점

*innately: 선천적으로

- ① weigh the benefits of treating familiar things with care
- ② plan escape routes after predicting possible attacks
- ③ overcome repeated feeding failures for survival
- ④ operate in the presence of harmless stimuli
- ⑤ monitor the surrounding area regularly

(a), (b), (c), (d)는 모두 주인공인 Ellen을 가리킵니다. 하지만 (e)의 'she'는 (D) 단락에서 'the manager said that she would check ... she called back and told Ellen that she had just discovered it'이라는 문맥을 통해 Ellen의 전화를 받은 카페 매니저를 가리킵니다.

이 글은 '초고이동성(Hyper-mobility)'이 도시 경제 성공의 특징으로 보이지만, 'Yet' 이하에서 오히려 접근성을 악화시키고 부정적 외부 효과를 낳는다는 문제점을 제기합니다. 따라서 초고이동성이 항상 긍정적인지에 대한 의문을 제기하는 'Is Hyper-mobility Always Good for Cities?(초고이동성은 도시에 항상 좋은가?)'가 글의 제목으로 가장 적절합니다.

①번은 두 개의 절(There are questions~, not all of them~)을 연결하는 역할을 해야 한다. 콤마(,)만으로는 두 절을 연결할 수 없으므로 접속사가 필요하다. 따라서 접속사 and를 추가하여 'and not all of them'으로 쓰거나, 접속사 기능을 포함하는 관계대명사를 사용하여 'not all of which'로 써야 한다. ② ask는 주격 관계대명사 that의 선행사인 The questions에 연결되는 동사이다. (The questions that scientists ask) ③ calculate는 사역동사 help의 목적격 보어로 동사원형 또는 to부정사가 올 수 있다. ④ to rely는 5형식 동사 allow의 목적격 보어이다. ⑤ itself는 주어 science와 목적어가 동일하므로 사용된 재귀대명사이다.

이 글은 유기농법의 한계와 단점을 설명하고 있다. 유기농법이 수확량을 감소시키고 생산 비용을 증가시킨다고 언급한 후, 무기질 질소 비료의 필요성을 설명한다. ③번이 포함된 문장은 앞선 내용에 더하여(In addition) 거름이나 콩과 식물을 광범위하게 사용하는 것의 단점을 서술하는 맥락이다. 뒤이어 제초제 사용이 불가하여 잡초 제어가 어렵다는 단점이 나오므로, '이점(benefits)'이 있다는 것은 문맥에 맞지 않다. '제약(constraints)'이나 '문제점(problems)'과 같은 부정적인 의미의 단어가 와야 한다.

지리학의 핵심은 '공간적 배열, 변이, 상호 연결(spatial arrangements, variations, and interconnections)'을 다루는 것이라고 정의한다. 빈칸 뒤의 예시(상점 위치, 이주 현상)들은 모두 인구 분포, 도로 위치, 사회경제적 패턴 등 다양한 현상들이 지구 표면에 어떻게 배열되어 있는지를 고려해야 함을 보여준다. 따라서 빈칸에는 '현상들이 지구 표면에 어떻게 배열되어 있는지(how phenomena are arranged on Earth's surface)'에 대한 인식이 필요하다는 내용이 들어가야 한다.

6. [정답] ④

동물들은 낯선 대상을 본능적으로 피하지만, 이런 신중한 행동이 계속되면 먹이 활동 같은 필수 활동을 방해할 수 있다. 이 문제를 극복하기 위해 동물들은 '자주 발생하는 안전한 자극에 익숙해진다(habituate to safe stimuli that occur frequently)'. 즉, 불쾌한 일이 일어나지 않으면 활동을 계속한다. 이것은 동물들이 학습을 통해 '무해한 자극이 있는 상황에서도 정상적으로 활동(operate in the presence of harmless stimuli)'할 수 있게 됨을 의미한다.
