The primary purpose of commercial music radio broadcasting is to deliver an audience to a group of advertisers and sponsors. To achieve commercial success, that audience must be as large as possible. More than any other characteristics (such as demographic or psychographic profile, purchasing power, level of interest, degree of satisfaction, quality of attention or emotional state), the quantity of an audience aggregated as a mass is the most significant metric for broadcasters seeking to make music radio for profitable ends. As a result, broadcasters attempt to maximise their audience size by playing music that is popular, or at the very least music that can be relied upon not to cause audiences to switch off their radio or change the station. Audience retention is a key value (if not the key value) for many music programmers and for radio station management. In consequence, a high degree of risk aversion frequently marks out the 'successful' radio music programmer. Playlists are restricted, and often very small.

- ① features of music playlists appealing to international audiences
- ② influence of advertisers on radio audiences' musical preferences
- ③ difficulties of increasing audience size in radio music programmes
- ④ necessity of satisfying listeners' diverse needs in the radio business
- ⑤ outcome of music radio businesses' attempts to attract large audiences

The economic benefit of culturtainment makes it attractive to politicians and policy makers alike. A potential increase in inbound visitor numbers coupled with their demand for related goods and services (travel, accommodation, retail) is an incentive for those within governments and authorities to work with cultural groups in order to develop celebrations and commemorations into larger and more high-profile events. However, such commercialization risks culturtainment becoming homogeneous and losing its original 'message' that could lead to a dilution of audiences. This could also lead to smaller non-commercial independent events being set up that would only serve to divide audiences further. This is something that planners and stakeholders will need to balance against potential financial gain. Changing political, social and religious landscapes will lead to the emergence of new cultures, and with them new culturtainment experiences. Overall this is a healthy growth sector of the entertainment industry, but one that by its very nature is delicate in the face of exploitation.

Psychologists who study giving behavior ①have noticed that some people give substantial amounts to one or two charities, while others give small amounts to many charities. Those who donate to one or two charities seek evidence about what the charity is doing and ②what it is really having a positive impact. If the evidence indicates that the charity is really helping others, they make a substantial donation. Those who give small amounts to many charities are not so interested in whether what they are ③doing helps others — psychologists call them warm glow givers. Knowing that they are giving makes ④them feel good, regardless of the impact of their donation. In many cases the donation is so small — $10 or less — that if they stopped ⑤to think, they would realize that the cost of processing the donation is likely to exceed any benefit it brings to the charity.

Perceptions of forest use and the value of forests as standing timber vary considerably from indigenous peoples to national governments and Western scientists. These differences in attitudes and values lie at the root of conflicting management strategies and stimulate protest groups such as the Chipko movement. For example, the cultivators of the Himalayas and Karakoram view forests as essentially a convertible resource. That is, under increasing population pressure and growing demands for cultivable land, the conversion of forest into cultivated terraces means a much higher productivity can be extracted from the same area. Compensation in the form of planting on terrace edges occurs to make up for the clearance. This contrasts with the national view of the value of forests as a renewable resource, with the need or desire to keep a forest cover over the land for soil conservation, and with a global view of protection for biodiversity and climate change purposes, irrespective of the local people's needs.

For indigenous peoples forests serve as a source of ____ (A) ____ resources, while national and global perspectives prioritize the ____ (B) ____ of forests, despite the local needs.

상업 음악 라디오 방송이 수익성을 위해 가능한 한 많은 청취자를 확보하려 하고, 그 결과(As a result, In consequence) 위험을 회피하며 대중적인 음악만 틀게 되어 플레이리스트가 제한적이고 작아진다는 인과관계를 설명하고 있다. 즉, 많은 청중을 유치하려는 시도의 '결과(outcome)'가 글의 핵심 주제이다.

3. [정답] ②

이 글은 'culturtainment(문화+엔터테인먼트)'의 상업화가 가져오는 경제적 이익(Cash)과, 그로 인해 본래의 메시지를 잃고 획일화될 수 있는 위험(Soul)이라는 양면성을 다룬다. 즉, 문화가 오락과 결합될 때 발생하는 상업적 이익과 문화적 본질 보존 사이의 딜레마를 설명하고 있으므로, 'Cash or Soul?(현금인가, 영혼인가?)'이라는 제목이 이 갈등을 가장 잘 표현한다.

4. [정답] ②

②번의 what은 뒤에 불완전한 절을 이끌어야 하지만, 'it is really having a positive impact'는 주어(it), 동사(is having), 목적어(a positive impact)를 모두 갖춘 완전한 절이다. 문맥상 '자선 단체가 긍정적인 영향을 미치고 있는지 아닌지에 대한 증거'를 찾는다는 의미이므로, 완전한 절을 이끌 수 있는 접속사 whether나 if로 고쳐야 한다.

지문은 숲에 대한 두 가지 상반된 관점을 제시한다. 토착민들은 숲을 경작지로 '전환 가능한(convertible)' 자원으로 본다. 이는 요약문의 (A)에 들어갈 '변형 가능한(transformable)'과 일치한다. 반면, 국가적/세계적 관점은 토양 보존, 생물 다양성, 기후 변화 등을 위해 숲을 그대로 유지하려는, 즉 '보존(protection, conservation)'을 우선시한다. 이는 요약문의 (B)에 들어갈 '보존(preservation)'과 일치한다.
